

Steve Rollins

Chief Information Officer

Steve Rollins is the Chief Information Officer of Audacy. Audacy is a scaled, multi-platform audio content and entertainment company with a leadership position in virtually every segment of the dynamic and growing audio business—including broadcasting, podcasting, digital, network, live events, music, sports and news. Audacy is also the number one creator of original, premium audio content, engaging over 200 million consumers each month.

In this role, Rollins oversees the Company's IT and Technical Operations, working closely with senior leadership and others to align Audacy's technology with its business and operations needs.

Rollins has spent the last five years working with both startups and private equity firms to analyze and implement more efficient organizations and processes. These have spanned the gamut from $5M in revenue to $1.2B in revenue. Prior to joining Audacy, Rollins was CIO of the SESAC Companies, SESAC, Harry Fox and Mint, where he led large-scale IT transformations. Prior to SESAC, Rollins was the Global Head of IT Assurance for Reed Elsevier, where he worked with the CIOs of the different companies from 108 countries in the portfolio to reduce risk and increase process output. These included publishing, events, airplane financing, legal research and insurance risk analysis units.

###

